Parks and Recreation Input Needed

Pittsylvania County is now updating its 2010 Parks and Recreation Master Plan, a process that needs input and ideas from residents and stakeholders.

To assist the County with this effort, the Board of Supervisors has partnered with BerryDunn, a full-service consulting firm that works in the areas of parks, recreation and libraries.

To better reach our residents and stakeholders, BerryDunn has set up a Social Pinpoint site designed to engage the public in this process.

The site contains several ways to do this, and all are designed to generate ideas and suggestions about the County's parks and recreation offerings now and in the future.

The Social Pinpoint site also provides information on the master planning process, the phases of the project and what the plan will be used for in the future. Ultimately, the updated plan will be used to assist the Department of Parks and Recreation, as well as the Board of Supervisors, in moving forward with potential programs, activities and facilities.

Convenience Centers Closed Christmas Day

All Pittsylvania County convenience centers will be closed to the public on Christmas Day, Monday, December 25. All trash disposal locations will maintain normal hours on Christmas Eve and the day after Christmas.

This closure will allow our hard-working site attendants and solid waste staff to spend Christmas with their families. Staff will close each of our convenience centers at 8 p.m. on Sunday, December 24 (Christmas Eve), and then reopen them at 6 a.m. on Tuesday, December 26.

The public is reminded that our sites are monitored by cameras 24 hours a day and placing trash outside the gate is a Class 1 misdemeanor, which could result in fines and/or jail time. We appreciate the public's cooperation and wish everyone Happy Holidays.

Citizens Academy Completes Session 4

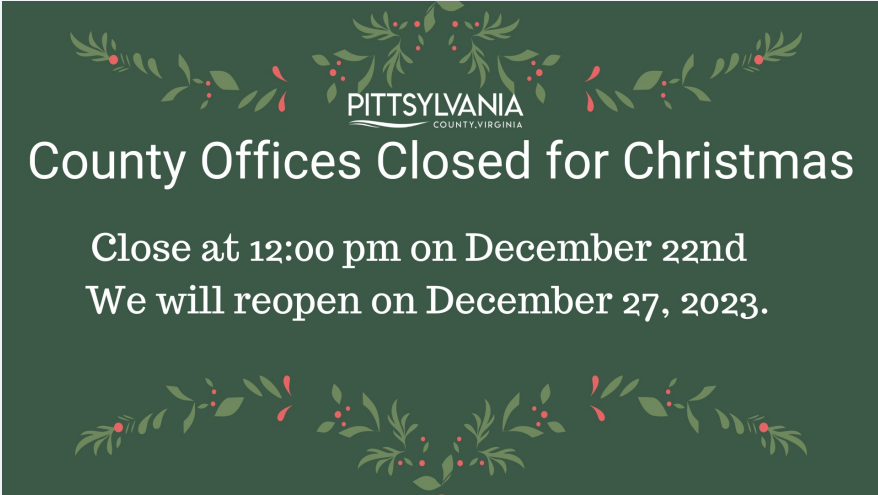

The Pittsylvania County Citizens Academy held its fourth and final session Thursday, December 21 at the Community Center in Chatham. Participants (pictured with County staff) not only learned what goes into selecting a building site for a hypothetical recreational center, but they also heard from Community Development Director Emily Ragsdale, who covered permitting and inspections; Director of Public Works Chris Adcock, who talked about how contracts are awarded and paid during construction; Fire Marshal Scott Hutcherson, who explained how a facility must be outfitted for fire safety; and Director of Parks and Recreation Justin Price, who covered operational costs, equipment, maintenance, programming and staffing for the hypothetical recreational center and how that would fit into the County's budget. The four-session program used the construction of a hypothetical recreational center to highlight how local government works. After a dinner provided by Fancy Frog in Gretna, participants were presented with certificates of achievement from County Administrator Stuart Turille.

Congratulations, and thank you to those who completed this pilot Citizens Academy program!
